

Opto Switch MK2 PCB identified as 03-451

The switcher can supply a current of up to 8mA when switched off, so it may not be suitable for driving very light loads e.g. some LED lights etc.

Although primarily for switching incandescent lamps, it can easily be adapted to switch LED Lamps and very light loads by removing internal link LK1.